In this course we will cover the history of the NEC and how contracts came about. You will focus on the selection of the main and secondary options in terms of procuring an NEC contract. An in-depth look will be taken of the different and distinct roles and responsibilities of the project manager and the supervisor. Payment provisions, compensation events, Cost Components and Quality control will be topics that will be covered throughout this course as well.

A very important part of understanding these contracts with all of their amendments is Dispute Resolution and the Claims thereof which is a vital part of this course and will also be catered for by our speaker.

ABOUT THE TRAINER

Coenraad Snyman is a specialist in the procurement of contracts in the engineering, construction and mining sector, in contract administration, claims and dispute resolution. He has practical experience in the use of most construction and engineering contracts. He acts for and on behalf of parties in disputes but is often also consulted to advise clients, during the execution of the works, on ways in which to avoid and/or to resolve or settle matters prior to them escalating into formal disputes. Coenraad is also an affiliate member of FIDIC.
